Who's Sitting in My Chair
Sandy Allen

Last June our guild held a wonderful Gala to celebrate its 25th anniversary. We were given a small piece of fabric with a touch of silver to be used in the Challenge piece. I made this small piece to honour the ladies who served as presidents during that time.

Scrap Happy
Sandy Allen
Quilted by Jane Longarmer

Sandy Cook taught a Nickel Quilt class at the 2005 spring retreat in Muenster. There are two books, Nickel Quilts and More Nickel Quilts. The whole quilt is made from 5 inch squares called nickels. This quilt is featured in one of the books. It really is fun to work with scraps.

Seasons at Standard Hill
Sandy Allen

Sarah Sanduliak led us through the Underground Railway quilt blocks during the afternoon quilt guild meetings. Rather than traditional colours I chose my colours from the focus fabric in the border.

My sister Lois and her husband Tony raise Polled Herefords on Standard Hill Farm near Maidstone. This Underground Railway quilt is a gift for her son Stephen and his new wife Christine who were married two weeks ago.
